I am pleased to share with you the details of National Anveshika Experimental Skill Test (NAEST), a unique competition embodying the principles of New Education Policy (NEP) - joyful learning, experiential learning and competency- based assessment that tests higher order thinking skills in Science. NAEST is conducted every year by National Anveshika Network of India (NANI), a special platform of the Indian Association of Physics Teachers (IAPT). There are 30 Anveshikas all over the country, Coordinated by Eminent academician- Padma Shree Prof. H C Verma, IIT Kanpur. The entire process of NAEST features Intriguing 1-minute science videos related to nature for observing and responding, no invigilation while doing the experiments, absolute freedom to also involve family members in making the experimental set up, abundant time to think and perform, credit for coming out with extension of what was asked, workshops on interesting topics, are some factors which make this memorable event a great celebration. The scientific videos prepared by Prof. H C Verma and his team for fueling curiosity in Physics and Learning Science at all levels of studies.

The competition is open to students from 9th grade to 12th grade in the junior category and for the colleges/ University students pursuing pure sciences at the graduation (B.Sc) and post-graduation level (M.Sc) in the senior category. There is no fee at any stage. It would be a great initiative, if you could advise your teachers/lecturers to get the students of your school/college/university enrolled in this competition at the site <https://naest.shiksha-sopan.org>.
